FLEX FINS

Flex fins work great in everything from short little stubbies to mid lengths, to big old noseriders. These guys create little to no drag resulting in maximum trim. The more raked back the fin is, the wider the arc of your turn will be and the more upright templates will have a much tighter turn.

RAKED FINS

Swept back outlines and a sleek look. Rake fins add more performance and maneuverability to logs compared to pivot fins. A favorite among pintail and pulled in tail loggers. They work in everything from ankle biters to slightly overhead juice. Points, Fits and beach breaks, raked fins can handle it.

PIVOT FINS

The go to outline for the noseriding elite, pivot fins have a vertical full outline with a wide base. They are designed to slow you down and keep the tail in the water while you are on the nose. Best in square tail logs, but add a classic feel to any log. Best in surf head high and below.
